

The DAILY WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND

Gifford Pinchot, Once White House Intimate, Now on Thin Reed

WASHINGTON — Ever since the New Deal took up residence in Washington, Pennsylvania's gangling Governor Gifford Pinchot has been a frequent White House caller. On several occasions the Governor and his dynamic, titian-haired wife have been dinner guests of the President and Mrs. Roosevelt.

Each occasion was, of course, duly noted in the Pennsylvania press—and the political value was not lost on either the Governor, or Mrs. Pinchot.

But since their recent bolt to the bitterly anti-Administration Senator David A. Reed, in Pennsylvania's hot Senatorial contest, the White House seems to have withdrawn its welcome for the Pinchots.

A few days ago the Governor telegraphed the President excitedly that armed conflict impended between the two rival unions in the anthracite coal region. He urged immediate Federal intervention.

U. S. Pinchot expected a responding White House flurry, he was disappointed.

The telegram was referred to the National Labor Relations Board, which after an inquiry, found no cause for Government action.

Camera Shy

Two ladies of the Cabinet, one a member, one the wife of a member, are camera shy.

Frances Perkins, Secretary of Labor, objects strenuously to being photographed. With a mobile expression of face which photographers say would make her a remarkable subject, Madame Perkins continues to avoid what she calls vain posing.

In despair, camera men contrived to set up a camera in a room in which she was to deliver a radio address. As they were about to shoot, she discovered the ruse and scowled.

The resulting picture was unfair to her, but it is the only recent picture available.

Even more successful in eluding the lens is May Cecilia Waterbury Cummings, wife of the Attorney General, Homer Stille Cummings.

One of the most delightful ladies of the Cabinet, she is determined to keep herself out of print. She has, photographers complain, a sixth sense in detecting their approach, always thrusts a fan or a program over her face when they take her by surprise.

*Strangest player in the game is the Attorney General himself, who conspires with the cameramen in their efforts to steal a shot. He has been known to tip them off in setting a trap for her, always dodges when she tries to duck behind him.

So the panel of Cabinet wives being prepared by a local photographer is likely to be minus Mrs. Cummings.

Tell-Tale Figures

Tucked away in the first "call report" just issued by the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation are three separate and inconspicuous items, which, when brought together, throw an illuminating spotlight on the reason for muttering in banking quarters against recent Treasury policies.

In the FDIC statement are these three figures:

Total deposits—$35,813,594,000.

U. S. Government securities—$9,707,976,000.

Securities guaranteed by the government—$593,524,000.

What these figures mean is this: That out of $35,813,594,000 in deposits, the 13,896 member banks of the FDIC, comprising 90 per cent of the financial institutions of the country, have $10,301,500,000 (the combination of U. S. securities and guaranteed securities) or approximately 26 per cent of their assets invested in Government bonds.

Add to this the more than $2,500,000,000 held by the Federal Reserve banks, and you have about half of the Government's $27,000,000,000 in securities held by the bankers.

This explains why:

FRIGID WAVE TO CONTINUE

Temperature Falls To 31 Sunday Morning; To Remain Three Days, Report.

By International News Service

Ohio forgot its summer of drought today and dug in for three more days of "continued cold" after it was given its first real taste of winter weather by freezing temperatures, snow, sleet and rain during the week-end.

W. H. Alexander, government forecaster at Columbus, said the

SNOW AT MANSFIELD

MANSFIELD, Oct. 29.—Snow was falling steadily here today as the city got its first taste of winter weather. The snowfall covered the ground with a light blanket.

cold snap would not lift for three days although the weather will be fair and without snow. He declared, however, that there was an outside possibility of snow flurries over central Ohio late this afternoon.

The "cold wave" was whipped into the state by a strong northwestern wind Saturday. Snow, sleet and rain was scattered throughout the state at that time, and Cleveland and Akron, together with cities along Lake Erie, reported light snow as late as yesterday afternoon. The low temperature here Sunday was 31 while Monday's low was three degrees above that mark.

The velocity of the wind reached 37 miles an hour and delayed shipping on lake waters. Four freighters, the Ishpeming, the Pollock, the Saskatchewan and the McLaughlin were forced to lay to outside Sandusky bay until the wind subsided. Heavy seas, running because of the wind, prevented speakers from the mainland reaching Kelleys Island for a mass political rally yesterday. One speaker, George H. Bender, congressman-at-large candidate, hired an airplane to take him there but the arrangements later were cancelled.

VILLAGE HIT BY FLAMES

Lithopolis Threatened With Destruction Early Sunday; Zanesville Loss High.

LITHOPOLIS, Oct. 29.—Credit Columbus city firemen as their saviors, residents of this little village today resumed normal business as they surveyed the damage of a fire which early Sunday threatened to destroy the entire town.

The fire started in a garage and spread to a residence and, ultimately, before Columbus firemen arrived and put the flames under control. Fanned by a high wind, the fire defied efforts of volunteers. Damage was placed at $8,000.

ZANESVILLE, Oct. 29.—Fire which roared through downtown Zanesville early Sunday, burning two buildings and threatening two others before firemen won a six-hour battle, today was estimated to have done $100,000 damage.

Believed to have started in the furnace room of the Equitable Savings Co. building, the fire burned through the interior of the building and gutted an adjoining structure occupied by the Morrison Shoe Co., several offices and apartments.

The flames spread to the Laffey Pharmacy Building and to the Zanesville Savings and Loan offices before the crew of 30 regular and 100 volunteer firemen got the fire under control.

Williamsport and Wayne-Twp Men To Represent Pickaway-Co. in State Contest Friday; 500 Attend Splendid Field Day Near Clarksburg.

Homer Conway, of Williamsport, and Robert Reynolds, of Wayne-twp, will represent Pickaway-co in the state corn husking contest to be held Friday on the Carpenter farm, near Darbyville.

Conway was the victor in the shocked corn contest conducted at Clarksburg, Saturday, and Reynolds won in the standing corn competition. The Williamsport man was pitted against six other huskers while Reynolds defeated two others.

The contest was conducted in conjunction with the Ross-co test which was won by Harvey Roosa in standing corn and by Virgil Bowdle, of near Kingston, in the shocked corn.

500 IN CROWD

A crowd of approximately 500 persons braved a cold cutting wind to witness the competition which was on the Hutton farm near Clarksburg. A community committee, of which William Anderson, state champion, was chairman, made arrangements and splendidly conducted the contest.

F. K. Blair and Fred Keeler, Pickaway and Ross county agents, helped carry on the event.

Conway's official figure was 718 pounds after gleanings were taken out and penalties invoked. His nearest competitor was Ephraim Dill, of Ashville, who had an official figure of 695 pounds. He husked 740 pounds but his gleanings and penalties were higher than Conway's.

Others competing in the shocked corn contest besides Conway and Dill were Charles Brown, Madison-twp.; George Wright, Pickaway-twp.; Dorsey Bumgardner, New Holland; Paul Winn, Ashville, and Thomas Green Monroe-twp.

Reynolds husked 1,256 pounds of standing corn to win from Thomas Green, Monroe-twp., and Russell Deckert, Commercial Point, who finished in third order.

REPRESENTS HIGHLAND

Lon Gorman, of Greenfield, took part in the competition since Highland-co conducted no contest. He will represent Highland in the state tourney.

Officials during the day were: Pryor Timmons, timekeeper; Glenn Grimes, starter; Harvey Morrison, calculator.

Ladies of the Estell Methodist Episcopal church served food during the day.

The contest was a highly successful one and much credit should be given to the Clarksburg committee.

The crowd, which acted in orderly fashion, decided to present their petition to the mayor after a mass meeting near the main A. & P. warehouse in the city.

Daniel F. Meier, branch manager of the company, addressed the rally, telling the men there was nothing he could do toward reopening the 300 stores in Cuyahoga-co, which closed Saturday as the aftermath of trouble between the company officials and labor unions.

A survey of the state, Fichter declared, indicates that the citizens of the state are uniting behind movements designed to gain financial support for their schools and save them from collapse.

FAMOUS ACE REACHES HAWAII IN SEA FLIGHT

Kingsford-Smith and Navigator Land After Long, Dangerous Flight From Suva; Backtracking Over Route He Established Six Years Ago

HONOLULU, T. H., Oct. 29.—Backtracking on the route of his memorable flight of six years ago when he flew the first airplane from California to Australia, Sir Charles Kingsford-Smith arrived in Hawaii today from Suva, Fiji Islands, on the second leg of his flight from Australia to California.

Kingsford-Smith with his navigator, Capt. P. G. Taylor, successfully battled a storm which sent his plane into a spin.

The plane carried 500 gallons of gasoline when it left Suva. As the monoplane clicked off mile after mile over the desolate South Pacific, always heading in a north-east direction to the Hawaiian group, the heavy load of fuel became less burdensome and the plane's climbing power and speed was increased.

However, Kingsford-Smith maintained a cruising speed of 130 miles an hour so he would reach Honolulu after dawn.

TOOK 34 HOURS

When Kingsford-Smith and three companions spanned the Pacific in 1928 they required 34 hours and 33 minutes for the Honolulu-Suva flight. It was confidently expected by Kingsford-Smith that the Lady Southern Cross would clip at least 10 hours from the old record.

"We hope to make Honolulu in 22 to 24 hours," he said, before climbing to the cabin of his plane at Naselai beach.

He made a perfect takeoff after a run of 1,000 yards down the white sands.

He had been delayed at Suva since Wednesday, following his arrival after completing the 1,700-mile flight from Brisbane.

Two attempts to get the heavily loaded monoplane into the air were thwarted by adverse weather. The flight nearly ended in a crashup during the second attempted takeoff last week when the plane hit a soft spot in the sand and careened into the surf.

The takeoff was then postponed until Wednesday morning when perfect weather prevailed, following the series of rain squalls which balked the first attempted take-offs.

Two hours after the airmen got away from the Fiji Islands, they sent their first message that they were flying at 3,500 feet, had progressed 302 miles, and were following a "true course."

Hour after hour the messages kept streaming into hundreds of amateur and commercial radio stations which had pegged their dials for the call letters VMZBF.

ALLAHABAD, India, Oct. 29.—Lieut. Cathcart Jones and Ken Waller, British airmen winging their way back to England after having won fourth place in the London-to-Melbourne air derby, arrived here at 3:25 p. m. today (4:55 a. m. E. S. T.) from Singapore.

The pair stood an excellent chance of beating the record of 70 hours, 59 minutes, and 50 seconds set by C. W. A. Scott and T. Campbell Black in winning the air derby. They planned to leave here for Karachi, there next stop at 6:00 a. m. tomorrow (7:30 p. m. Monday E. S. T.)

LIMPNE, Eng., Oct. 29.—Climaxing a series of minor accidents delaying his projected hop to Melbourne, Col. James Fitzmaurice, noted Irish flyer, was forced to return to Limpne, airfield, today after having actually been on his way for more than an hour.

All preparations have been made, Col. Fitzmaurice and Erik Bonar, his co-pilot, took off auspiciously at 7:14 a. m. (2:14 a. m. E. S. T.), but returned to the airport here at 10:15 a. m. (5:05 a. m. E. S. T.) because a piece of the undercarriage shield of their Bellanca plane had broken off.

MELBOURNE, Oct. 29.—Charles Melrose, lone Australian flyer making an excellent showing in the handicap division of the London-to-Melbourne air derby, arrived at Newcastle waters, Australia, today on one of the final laps of his long journey.

Melrose made a sensational landing at Darwin yesterday with his fuel tanks empty after a bitter battle with the elements over the treacherous Timor sea.

FAMILY OF LATE WAR VET HUNTED

Efforts are being made to find the family of Charles C. Saltgiver, War veteran, who recently passed away. His wife and seven children formerly lived in Chillicothe.

The children have been awarded the death compensation by the veteran's bureau but their residence cannot be located.

Information should be sent to the Red Cross or the county relief office, Bales Bluff.

Members of the church were features of the afternoon session. Music was furnished by the choir and orchestra during the day with several special instrumental and vocal numbers.

Walter C. French, who had charge of the plans for the day, and who is a former superintendent and organizer of the 130 per cent club, presented the Sunday school with a scroll painting bearing the names of the members of the 100 per cent club during the seven years of its duration.

Mr. French will act as chairman of the homecoming again next year.

Clark Thrills Pro Grid Fans

By International News Service.
The old Portsmouth Spartans to the Ohio city as Detroit Lions, Sunday, bigger, better balanced and much better supported financially than when they performed along the Ohio river. Between 5,000 and 6,000 fans saw them completely bewildered the hapless Cincinnati Reds, 38-0, with the peerless Dutch Clark putting on a one-man show.

Clark scored two touchdowns, kicked dropkicks after each for the extra points, and booted a dropkick from the field for three more points. He scampered all over the greensward much to the delight of the Portsmouth fans and the discernment of the cellar-possessors, the Reds.

Clark's feature was an 82-yard sprint. The Spartans scored in every period smashing 19 points over the line in the third session.

The starting Detroit team was exactly the same as that which performed for Portsmouth last year with the exception of Johnson, mighty left tackle.

In other professional league games the following resulted:

Chicago Bears, tied with Detroit for the league lead, rubbed Green Bay, 27-14, with Beattie Feathers, formerly of Tennessee, as the star.

New York Giants whipped Philadelphia 17-0, with Kenny Strong doing the bulk of the offensive work.

Brooklyn Dodgers trounced Pittsburgh, 21-3, with Jack Grossman as the star.

Boston Redskins, led by Pug Rentner, Northwestern star, beat Chicago Cardinals, 9-0.

The league standing:

31 Unbeaten, Untied Teams In Country

NEW YORK, Oct. 29.—Thirty-one unbeaten and untied football teams remain throughout the country today.

Seventeen colleges fell from the charmed circle of unbeaten and untied elevens over the week-end.

New Mexico tops all other teams in the matter of scoring, having piled up a total of 174 points in five games.

Six schools — Dartmouth, De Pauw, Ohio Northern, Tufts, Ithaca, and Panzer — have not been scored upon as yet.

Fastest Flying Quail in North Michigan and southern Canada have the largest, strongest and fastest flying quail in America.

Harris, who won two pennants and a world's championship for Washington in recent years, is reported under consideration to take over his old post with Clark Griffith's club.

NORTHWESTERN SWAMPED BY OHIO STATE

Fullback Damon Wetzel lost no time getting under way when he stepped into action for Ohio State in the second quarter of the Buckeye-Northwestern gridiron struggle at Duche Stadium. On his first assault he found an opening in the Wildcat forward wall and ripped through for 18 yards, as pictured here by the camera. He added 3 more and on the third drive bounced through right tackle for the touchdown. Ohio State had no trouble in swamping the Wildcats by a score of 28 to 6.

OHIO'S COACH TO MEET MAN HE REPLACED

Buckeyes Visit Cleveland; Reserve Has Good Team Led By Zeh and Ippolito.

COLUMBUS, Oct. 29.—Jubilant over their 28 to 6 victory over Northwestern last Saturday, Ohio State university's gridirons returned to the practice field today to begin drills for the last non-conference game of the season against Western Reserve next Saturday.

The Reserve game is expected to draw keen interest because of the fact it will pit the wiles and genius of Coach Francis Schmidt against his predecessor, Sam Willaman, who now is coach at the Cleveland school.

Reserve boasts of a strong kicking and passing game and the main cog in its attack is built around Zeh, star right half-back, Zeh, who weighs 185 pounds, punts, passes and is an excellent broken field runner. At the opposite halfback post if Ippolito, who specializes on sweeping and runs, while Kremer, fullback, is a hard driving player on line rushing plays.

TO USE VARSITY Although his team is now rated as "one of the best in the country," Coach Schmidt indicated today that he is not taking the Reserve game Saturday too lightly. It was expected, however, that Schmidt might let off some pressure because of the fact that the game is not a conference match and because Chicago, Michigan and Iowa are to be met at home on the succeeding Saturdays.

Schmidt is not planning on taking any unnecessary chances with his team and will keep his varsity eleven hard at work against Reserve until he feels the game has either been won or lost.

The Ohio squad returned from Northwestern today minus the services of Jack Smith, star fullback, whose recurrent knee injury was aggravated in Saturday's game. Trainer Tucker P. Smith said it was problematical whether Smith would play any more collegiate football for Ohio State. He is a senior and the knee injury may keep him out for the remainder of the season.

TO RUN TRAIN It is probable that Ohio State will have a large cheering section at the Cleveland game next Saturday. Plans are being made to run a special train from Columbus to carry the university's 110-piece band and rooters who desire to follow the Scarlet squad.

'POLAR BEARS' IN COVETED POSITION

By International News Service. Ohio Northern University's football squad today remained the only unbeaten and untied gridiron crew in the state after Saturday's gridiron struggles which also saw five tie games written into the record books.

Results of other games, for all intent and purposes, can roughly be divided into two classes—those decided by slim margins and those in which heavy scores were piled up.

Among the latter were Ohio State's 28 to 6 victory over Northwestern's Wildcats; Ohio Wesleyan's 66 to 0 triumph over Wittenberg; Cincinnati's 45 to 0 win over Georgetown; Wooster's 25 to 0 score against Oberlin; Wilberforce's 20 to 0 win over Louisville, and never forgetting Ohio Northern's 23 to 0 victory over Otterbein.

Odd Maladies Among the strange maladies that afflict mankind are arithmomania—the uncontrollable desire to count things; batophobia—the constant dread that something will fall on you; ergophobia—the morbid fear or hatred of work.

BY THE SECOND GUESSER

3 OUT OF 17

The Second Guesser missed three out of 17 football selections on last Saturday's game and another resulted in a tie—Those missed were Colgate over Holy Cross, Southern Methodist over Fordham, and Nebraska over Iowa State, all of which, naturally, we guessed vice versa — The tie was Denison and Case.

PICKED HUEY'S TEAM

We were correct on the Ohio State-Northwestern, Army-Tennessee-Duke, Ohio U-Marshall, Notre Dame-Wisconsin, Illinois-Michigan, Dartmouth-Harvard, Chicago-Missouri, Purdue-Carnegie Tech, Alabama-Georgia, Ohio Wesleyan - Wittenberg, Cincinnati-Georgetown, and Louisiana State-Vanderbilt conflicts — The last named was probably the best selection of the day as far as this column was concerned because practically every other prognosticator in this section picked the Commodores—Huey Long's boys beat Dan McGugin's outfit decisively, 49-0.

MICHIGAN-MINNESOTA

One of the largest crowds of the mid-west season is expected to witness the Michigan-Minnesota contest next Saturday in Ann Arbor. A Michigan victory would be the major upset of the 1934 season after the Gophers drubbed Iowa 48-12 last week — Michigan surprised, however, by almost tying Illinois, 7-6 — The Buckeyes go to Cleveland to meet Sam Willaman's Western Reserve team, which at this writing is unbeaten—A week from today their thar words will be untrue.

NEW YORKERS are mighty proud of the Hudson, but lots of westerners that go there are disappointed with it. I heard about a guy from Arkansas that was visiting a friend of his in New York, and was took for a ride along the Hudson.

"Ain't it grand?" says the New Yorker.

"Why, yes, it's all right."

"You don't seem to care for it."

"What's the matter? Ain't it big enough?"

"Well, to tell you the truth, it looks kinda sickly to me. Slow and sickly like."

"Is that so? Well, it ain't one bit more sickly than your old Mississippi. If you want to know what I think, I think it's the Mississippi that's sickly."

"You think so, pardner? Well, maybe she's a trifle ailing, but you can't say she's just exactly confined to her bed."

THE LATE Sam Davis, editor of the Carson Appeal was known as the Oracle of the Nevada sage-brush—and deserved the title. Once upon a time he was instructed by the San Francisco Examiner to meet Mme.

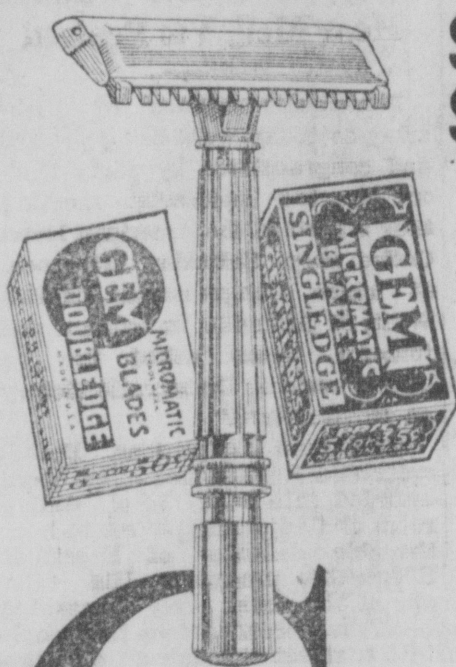

Sarah Bernhardt at Reno and bring her over the mountains of California on her first tour of the Western Slope.

Davis, aside from his journalistic abilities, was a most likable person. The great French actress became so fond of him, upon the occasion of their first meeting that thereafter she declined to be interviewed by any other newspaperman during her sojourn on the Coast. If she had anything to say for publication, he said it for her.

The day came when the train bearing her private car was about to start on the long journey back East. As the locomotive bell was ringing, she put her hands upon his shoulders, kissed him upon either cheek, and then squarely upon the mouth, remarking, as she did so:

"The right cheek for the Carson Appeal, the left for the Examiner, the lips, my friend, for yourself."

"Madam," said Davis, without the slightest sign of bashfulness, "I also represent the Associated Press, which serves 380 papers west of the Mississippi River."

Democratic Luncheon is Delightful Social Affair

The luncheon of the Women's Democratic club of Pickaway-co at the American Hotel Coffee shop, Saturday, was without a doubt the outstanding social function in political circles this year.

All reservations possible were taken. Mrs. Glenn I. Nickerson, S. Court-st, as chairman of the committee in charge of the luncheon, deserves much credit for the success of the affair.

Varied colored flowers decorated the room and centered the long tables for the luncheon at 1 o'clock. A number of women, prominent politically in the state, were present. The short talks by several of these women added much to the delightful meeting.

Mrs. Joseph B. Cromley, of Ashville, chairman of the Pickaway-co club, acted as toastmistress and introduced the speakers and all distinguished guests.

Mrs. Martin L. Davey, wife of the Democratic nominee for governor, was charming in her greetings to the group and Mrs. Howard L. Bevis, wife of Judge Bevis nominee for re-election to the Ohio supreme court, gave a most interesting talk on the judicial ticket.

Their numbers included "Rain" by Curran; "Amariyllis" an old French tune; "Sally in Our Alley" an old English tune; "The Holiday" by Curran; "My Lover Is a Fisherman" by Strickland, and "Down In Derry" by Cox.

Murder Will Out

WHEN insurance experts begin to worry about the homicidal hazard, the serious condition of society is made more apparent than by any statistics which can be compiled or quoted. The homicide rate is so high in this country that every citizen is exposed to a measurable risk of murder or other forms of sudden death at the hands of his neighbor. The risk is fractional, of course, but it is apparently sufficient to be included in the calculations of those whose business is founded on mortality tables.

Among many startling discoveries of the statistician in the case, Dr. Frederick L. Hoffman, is the marked disproportion between American cities and their equivalent in other nations. Detroit's rate, for example, is more than five times that of Windsor, which lies just across the river in Canada. The national homicide rate is easily the highest in the world. Moreover, it is increasing and has apparently doubled within thirty years, in which this investigator has made his studies and annual reports.

The collector of these figures considers also their cause, as most all those who mark these mounting totals of murder. He blames the mutual extermination of gang warfare, the unassimilated alien and the national weakness for deadly weapons. These are familiar charges; others of his conclusions are more unexpected. He finds, for instance, that the reputations of such cities as New York and Chicago are not altogether deserved; the homicide rate of the former is considerably below the national average, and that of the Western city is only a little above it. He notes that capital punishment has not proved a deterrent to homicide, according to the record. But these are details and the principal charge remains—that this nation is not only careless of human life as revealed by the accident record but also exceptionally cursed with those who take life with criminal intent.

It is a serious indictment founded on facts and figures, and the well-intentioned citizen must face it and seek both explanation and cure for the condition it represents.

New Jersey would have been saved a pretty penny if Uncle Sam's Man Purvis had caught up with Hauptmann before the cops saw him.

Nasal Sinusitis in Young Children

Authorities Claim It Is Now One of the Common Disorders of Early Life, and It Often Leads to More Serious Complications

By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.
United States Senator from New York
Former Commissioner of Health,
New York City

NASAL SINUSITIS is an unpleasant affliction. Though it is more prevalent among adults, it is not unusual to find it attacking children. In fact, many baby specialists claim that sinusitis is now ranked among the common disorders of early life.

The effect of nasal sinusitis on the health of the child cannot be overstated. No doubt it plays an important part in acute infections of the respiratory tract, such as common colds, bronchitis and pneumonia. It may well be said it prepares the way for many childhood infections, especially whooping cough and measles.

The child complains of chronic cough, frequent head colds and nose bleed. He may have fits of sneezing and coughing which come on at night. These children are subject to croup, ear disturbances, headache, fever, blinking and inflammation of the eyes.

In addition to these disturbances, a child may develop a systematic complication, such as anemia, malnutrition, asthma, digestive disturbance.

Rarely "Outgrow" the Condition

It is apparent that sinusitis in a child should never be accepted as a trivial matter. Do not expect the child to "outgrow" the condition. Poor living conditions, inadequate food, lack of clothing, bad housing and hygienic facilities, are factors that must not be overlooked.

The disease should be treated so as to prevent its becoming chronic. This is best accomplished by nasal packs which are given under the supervision of a physician. In addition to local treatment, it is advisable that all centers of infection be eradicated. Diseased tonsils and adenoids and infected teeth should be attended to as soon as possible.

Methods of Treatment

The diet is important in the treatment of sinusitis as well as in preventing other infections. Milk, cream, butter, eggs, vegetables and fruits should be included in the diet in liberal amounts. As a rule temperate eating of carbohydrates is advised. On this account cereals should be given in moderation if there is a suspicion of sinusitis. Foods rich in vitamins and mineral substances should form the basis of the diet.

See that the child has plenty of fresh air and sunshine. During the winter months when there is not much sunshine, it is advisable to give cod liver oil. A regulated schedule of living should be adopted in order that the child may have adequate rest and regular hours of sleep. In a severe case it may be necessary to resort to surgical treatment. This consists of ventilation and drainage of the nasal sinuses. If polyps are present in the nose they should be removed without delay. In every case the doctor will make sure that the nasal passages and the cavities that open into them, the sinuses are free and clear of disease.

The sheriff snapped at him, "I'll do the talking, Mr. Hillier. Now, what did you have an argument with Vail about?"

The doctor hesitated perceptibly and then said, "It was about money. Vail was a patient of mine several years ago in New York. He made a lot of money in the bull market, and he persuaded me to try my luck. We were caught in the crash and lost. Vail put up a lot of margin and lost it all. I was repaying him in installments."

"So that's why he could afford Sherwood Forest," Mark said softly.

The doctor nodded. He went on in a low, emotionless voice. "On Thursday morning Vail demanded five hundred dollars immediately. I told him I was all I had in bank. He insisted and we quarreled over it. I lost my temper because I thought he was being unreasonable."

"Did he tell you why he wanted the money?" Mark asked eagerly.

John Calvert shook his head. "No, I asked him, but he wouldn't say. Finally I agreed to get it for him. I gave it to him just before lunch."

"You were a good friend of his?" Finn asked.

"No," the doctor said. "I was not his friend."

"But all the same you took practically every cent you could scrape up to give him?"

The doctor nodded. "I owed him the money," he said.

I looked away from him. It was difficult to believe, and I wanted to believe him. The sheriff put his finger on another weak spot in the story immediately.

"What was this about a woman he said to you?"

"We said nothing about any woman. She was mistaken."

The sheriff looked incredulous. "You say you paid him the five hundred just before lunch. What became of it?"

"I have no idea."

"It wasn't in the room when we searched it."

"No."

"Can you prove you paid it to him?"

"Yes. If you'll call my bank, you'll find out that I drew it out that morning, and I have a receipt for it."

"How much did you owe him altogether?"

"Ten thousand dollars."

The sheriff whistled. "How long have you been paying him back?"

"Two years," the doctor answered.

"Why did you pay him the five hundred?" Finn asked suddenly.

"Was it because you wanted to keep him quiet?"

The doctor nodded. "It would hurt my position here to have it become known," he said.

E. F. G. Q.—What can be done for a tender feeling through the bowels? My stomach appears to have dropped. I have been doctoring for some time without much success. What would you advise?

A.—Have a thorough examination and X-rays to determine just what condition exists. Watch your diet and elimination. For further particulars send a self-addressed, stamped envelope and repeat your question. (Copyright, 1934, K. F. S., Inc.)

The sheriff snapped at him, "I'll do the talking, Mr. Hillier. Now, what did you have an argument with Vail about?"

The doctor hesitated perceptibly and then said, "It was about money. Vail was a patient of mine several years ago in New York. He made a lot of money in the bull market, and he persuaded me to try my luck. We were caught in the crash and lost. Vail put up a lot of margin and lost it all. I was repaying him in installments."

"So that's why he could afford Sherwood Forest," Mark said softly.

The doctor nodded. He went on in a low, emotionless voice. "On Thursday morning Vail demanded five hundred dollars immediately. I told him I was all I had in bank. He insisted and we quarreled over it. I lost my temper because I thought he was being unreasonable."

"Did he tell you why he wanted the money?" Mark asked eagerly.

John Calvert shook his head. "No, I asked him, but he wouldn't say. Finally I agreed to get it for him. I gave it to him just before lunch."

"You were a good friend of his?" Finn asked.

"No," the doctor said. "I was not his friend."

"But all the same you took practically every cent you could scrape up to give him?"

The doctor nodded. "I owed him the money," he said.

I looked away from him. It was difficult to believe, and I wanted to believe him. The sheriff put his finger on another weak spot in the story immediately.

"We said nothing about any woman. She was mistaken."

The sheriff looked incredulous. "You say you paid him the five hundred just before lunch. What became of it?"

"I have no idea."

"It wasn't in the room when we searched it."

"No."

"Can you prove you paid it to him?"

"Yes. If you'll call my bank, you'll find out that I drew it out that morning, and I have a receipt for it."

"How much did you owe him altogether?"

"Ten thousand dollars."

The sheriff whistled. "How long have you been paying him back?"

"Two years," the doctor answered.

"Why did you pay him the five hundred?" Finn asked suddenly.

"Was it because you wanted to keep him quiet?"

The doctor nodded. "It would hurt my position here to have it become known," he said.

"You were anxious to keep the quarrel quiet too, weren't you?"

"Yes. As I said, I knew Felipa heard it, and I knew she suspected me. I telephoned her that afternoon from the porch by his room and Mr. Cross, he was in his room with his door shut. They talk low, the doctor and Mr. Vail."

"Take her out," Finn said to the deputy. When they had left, he turned to the doctor. "Well," he said. "What you got to say about it?"

"It's true that Vail and I quarreled," the doctor answered. "I may even have said I would kill him. I knew that Felipa heard us and I could tell that afternoon that she was afraid of me and suspected me. I wanted to see her and convince her that I hadn't killed him. When she ran away, she left the note I wrote her, and I took the opportunity to get it back. I quarreled with Vail, sheriff, but I didn't kill him."

He was the calmest of us all as he stood there facing the sheriff.

"I don't know whether you believe me," he added. "I can't wonder if you don't."

"I do," she said. "You couldn't do it, I know."

The doctor's whole face lighted up as he smiled at her.

"All right," the sheriff said.

AT THE CLIFTONA

"Wednesday's Child," RKO-Radio's interpretation of the Broadway stage sensation opens a two day engagement at the Cliftona Theatre, Tuesday evening.

Besides the excellent story, the picture is of great merit because it introduces to the public of Circleville a new face and a new name—one to be remembered—Frankie Thomas.

This youngster has risen to stardom, through the remarkable performances he rendered in the stage play, and apparently, we will be seeing more of him in the near future.

"Wednesday's Child" has just been released and the Cliftona has been more than fortunate to secure booking before the picture played Columbus.

AT THE GRAND

Shirley Temple certainly is entitled to take a bow for her performance in "Baby, Take a Bow," which opened yesterday at the Grand Theatre. The work of this five-year-old girl is really astonishing. She possesses the grace and intelligence of a grown person and a personality that will carry her far.

In "Stand Up and Cheer!" she was delightful in a little sketch with James Dunn. In "Baby, Take a Bow," she has an important part running the full length of the picture and she turns in a truly remarkable performance.

She hasn't a trace of self-consciousness. Every gesture, every line is delivered with unstudied grace. She will steal your heart as soon as she comes on the screen.

Ditched

One of General Hugh Johnson's pet recovery ideas has been quietly but definitely ditched by the Administration.

The ex-NRA boss had a favorite theory that one of the major highways to business improvement was revival of the durable goods industry.

Inability to get heavy industry started Johnson considered to be one of his most important failures.

Of course the real reason investment capital is not building skyscrapers is because of the obvious fact that commercial centers already are overbuilt.

Likewise, with thousands of miles of railroad trackage being abandoned, there is no demand for

Fear of Death Makes Child Abductors Work Alone

Digging into musty archives for records of past kidnappings brought to mind by the abduction and slaying of Baby Charles A. Lindbergh, criminologists have been struck by the fact that three of the greatest "snatchings" of the past have been committed by men who worked alone and without accomplices. This, criminologists assert, may be due to the fact that accomplices who might have no objections to participating in the kidnapping of an adult at the same time may decline to take part in abducting a child because its less rigorous health may lead to death and consequent charges of murder. The outstanding abductions in the nation prior to the Lindbergh case were those involving Edward Cudahy, 15-year-old son of E. A. Cudahy, wealthy Nebraska meat packer, kidnapped in 1900 by Pat Crowe, notorious bandit, for $25,000 ransom; Marion Parker, Los Angeles school girl, kidnapped and slain in 1927 by William E. Hickman, for $1,500 ransom, and Peggy McMath, Massachusetts girl, kidnapped in 1933 by Kenneth Buck, for $60,000 ransom.

Other instances of this kind could be cited by the score.

There is no immediate prospect for an appreciable upturn in durable goods production, NRA observers say and that therefore the thing to do is to concentrate recovery efforts in directions more promising of results.

DAVEY PREDICTS ELECTION

COLUMBUS, Oct. 29.—Entering the home stretch in Ohio's gubernatorial contest which will be decided at the polls a week from tomorrow, Martin L. Davey, Democrat, today predicted his own election over Clarence J. Brown, Republican, by "at least a quarter of a million majority."

While they withheld definite predictions for the present, Brown leaders also exuded optimism and ventured the opinion that the Democratic candidates failed properly to interpret the campaign trend of the last week or so.

Davey has visited 75 of the 88 counties in the last three weeks and he hoped to carry his appeal for votes into most of the others before election day.

CERTAIN OF RESULT

"It is now proper for me, one week before election, to make the confident prediction that I will be elected by at least a quarter of a million majority," he said in discussing the reception he has received in the various counties.

"The evidence of this overwhelming result is the most positive I have ever seen. The favorable sentiment is rolling up like a great tidal wave. This prediction is made without reservation and irrespective of blind guesses made by so-called political observers who spend all of their time in Columbus. We have been out among the people of the state."

If his opponents expected to force from Davey a public statement of his position with respect to state aid for parochial and private schools, they seemed doomed to disappointment.

"The false and irrelevant issues that have been injected into this campaign by the opposition are quickly spurned," said the Democratic candidate.

Among the "irrelevant issues" he is understood to rank the parochial school aid matter. Democratic state headquarters adopted a similar stand soon after Brown, the Republican candidate, issued a declaration of his opposition to state aid for parochial schools.

DONAHEY IN LEAD

In the opinion of most observers here the outcome of the contest between ex-Gov. Vic Donahey and Sen. Simon D. Fess for U. S. senator will not be nearly as close as the gubernatorial race. Dona-

PASTORS PLEAD FOR EDUCATION

Pleas for the continuation of America's standard of public school education were made in practically every Circleville and Pickaway-co church Sunday as "National Education" week was opened.

Programs are planned in each school of the city and county this week dealing with the national event.

A chapel program in which various phases of the field of education were touched upon was presented at the high school this morning.

hey, they felt, has an impressive lead over the incumbent, Fess, which can be offset by nothing short of a miracle.

They held the belief that Donahey's undeniable tremendous personal popularity, and not Fess' persistent outspoken criticism of the Roosevelt "New Deal" would achieve the defeat of Ohio's senator.

While Fess' campaign for reelection has been based entirely on his "New Deal" opposition, Donahey chose to sell himself and not the "New Deal" to the voters. He has refused to debate the national administration's policies with Fess.

As the campaign nears its conclusion, criticism has been heaped upon Donahey by Republican leaders for his refusal to publicly state his stand on vital "New Deal" measures, such as crop restriction, inflation and related matters.

Will Rogers Picks A Story For This Spot

By WILL ROGERS

SOME of these jerry-built houses that you see going up in new developments are just kinda scenery, you know. It really don't look as if the proprietor meant to sell them to anybody. But once in a while it happens, and then the proprietors' trouble begin, because it ain't hardly possible to collect the last four hundred payments without knocking the house down when you call for the money.

But one proprietor has a model couple living in his very flimsiest house. When the last installment was collected, the developer went out to the house and talked to the old couple.

"How did you keep your house looking so nice and new, when all my other buyers kinda shook theirs to pieces? I wish you'd write a little piece about it, and I'll use it on my other buyers."

So the old man did. He wrote like this:

"We're quiet folks, and ain't very hard on a house. We spend the nights at our son's place in town. Most all our days we spend with our daughter in town. That saves a lot of wear on the house. And then, whenever I want to cough I always go outside, quite a long ways off from the house. We ain't got any other bad habits, so there's no cause to muss up the house with sneezing or dancing or playing cards, like some folks do."

WEST URGES

university professor he formerly was, Congressman West defended President Roosevelt's New Deal as "a program which puts human rights above property rights and still maintains the common safeguards of constitutional government—a government free from the domination of Wall Street, which brought our country to national disaster in 1929."

Pointing out that the 11th congressional district was the battleground this year for one of the most clearly-drawn fights the New Deal will face, West forcefully said:

LAUDS UNDERWOOD

Mr. West paid splendid personal tribute to Underwood and also lauded the man who defeated himself for the U. S. senatorial nomination at the August primary, A. Vic Donahey. The congressman lashed a bitter attack against Donahey's opponent, Senator Simeon Fess, of Yellow Springs, one of the most outspoken critics of the New Deal.

"Any man, like Dr. Fess, who stands in front of Ohio audiences appealing to wild imaginations by stretching a rubber dollar bill the length of his arm in an attempt to frighten the people of what he terms an 'impending wholesale inflation,' is resorting to tricks of cheap demagoguery," the congressman declared, adding that "the intelligence of Ohio voters in November will send one-time college professor Fess back to Yellow Springs to study his economic textbooks again to find out what inflation really is."

The speaker presented a brilliant defense of the New Deal. "Our opponents say it's costing too much and that generations to come will be paying for it. To date it has cost about three billion dollars, which is the same amount of national debt left by the Hoover administration," Mr. West stated. He presented indisputable figures to show that the recovery program was accomplishing favorable results, pointing out that the income of the farmer and worker had increased nearly 25 per cent since President Roosevelt assumed office.

In conclusion, the congressman appealed for "the greatest Democratic victory ever seen," so that

President Roosevelt and Ohio's new Democratic leaders may continue to build "a new America, founded on the principles of social justice and sound constitutional theory."

CANDIDATES SPEAK

Preceding Congressman West's address, short talks were given by Mrs. Davey, Mrs. Bevis, Miss Justus, Mrs. May Campbell, of Lancaster, member of the Democratic state executive committee, Mrs. Poulson, Mrs. Fletcher, Mrs. Howell, Miss Sheehy, Miss Helen Yates, president of the recently organized Young People's Democratic Club, and August W. Weber and W. L. Spangler, candidates for state senator from the 10th Ohio senatorial district.

Group singing of a number of campaign songs led by Karl J. Herrmann, with the piano accompaniment played by Mrs. Herrmann, was a part of the program. The Monday club trio accompanied by Miss Abbe Mills Clarke sang six selections.

ATTENTION VOTERS AND TAX PAYERS

IS "GET RICH QUICK" DUNLAP A RESIDENT OF THE 11TH CONGRESSIONAL DISTRICT? DUNLAP FIRST DENIED—NOW ADMITS HIS CONNECTION WITH THE DEFUNCT DOLLINGS COMPANY—WILL DUNLAP KINDLY ANSWER THESE QUESTIONS FOR THE VOTERS AND TAX PAYERS?

Dunlap, isn't it a fact that your residence is 1306 Neil Avenue, Columbus, Ohio?

Isn't it a fact that you are a voter in Ward 15, Precinct R, City of Columbus, Franklin County, Ohio?

Isn't it a fact that you never voted in this district until after you announced as a candidate for Congress?

Isn't it a fact that you served many years as a State Senator, State Dairy and Food Commissioner of Ohio and eight years, at a salary of NINE THOUSAND DOLLARS ($9,000.00), per year, as Assistant Secretary of Agriculture in Washington, D. C.?

Isn't it a fact that your record was considered in Washington as a "BIG ZERO" and that you were known as the "VERMIFORM APPENDIX" or "USELESS APPENDAGE" of the Department of Agriculture?

Isn't it a fact that you and your son, Nelson Dunlap, have drawn from the Public Treasury in State and Nation, over ONE HUNDRED AND FIFTY THOUSAND DOLLARS ($150,000.00 in salary and traveling expenses?

Isn't it a fact that you were the most expensive Assistant Secretary of Agriculture the Government has ever had?

Isn't it a fact that you cost the Tax Payers and the Government as much as TWO THOUSAND, SIX HUNDRED AND EIGHTY-FOUR AND 17-100 DOLLARS (2,684.17) for traveling expenses alone, in one year?

Isn't it a fact that you cost the Tax Payers and the Government a total of THIRTEEN THOUSAND EIGHT HUNDRED AND NINETY-FIVE AND 19-100 DOLLARS ($13,895.19), which you spent in traveling expenses alone, chasing about the country?

Isn't it a fact that you accepted money from a private speaker's bureau for expenses while traveling on a Government salary and Government Expense Account?

Isn't it a fact that you used the fine FIFTEEN THOUSAND DOLLAR ($15,000.00) Government Boat, with a Government Employee to run it at Government expense, for pleasure jaunts on the Potomac River, while you were Assistant Secretary of Agriculture?

Isn't it a fact that you placed your son, Nelson Dunlap, in the Department of Agriculture while you were Assistant Secretary of Agriculture, under Hoover, in a nice fat job, chasing "CORN BORERS," at a large salary?

Isn't it a fact that your son, Nelson Dunlap, has drawn more than EIGHTEEN THOUSAND, FIVE HUNDRED AND SIXTY-ONE AND 95-100 DOLLARS ($18,561.95) from the Public Treasury in gross salary?

Isn't it a fact that your son, Nelson Dunlap, is still holding a fat job at a big salary, on the public pay roll, and has held this job since early in 1927?

Will you explain to the voters how much money has been drawn by R. C. Dunlap, I. H. Dunlap and Walter H. Dunlap, whose names appeared upon the public pay roll while you were Assistant Secretary of Agriculture; how they got their jobs, and how many more of your relatives, beside your son Nelson Dunlap, were Corn Borer and Japanese Beetle Chasers?

Isn't it a fact that Benham and Harrison, two high officials of the Dollings Company, associated with you, were recently released from the Ohio Penitentiary, while you ask the people to elect you to Congress as your reward for helping to "Fleece" them through the sale of Worthless Dollings Stock?

Isn't it a fact that the records in the "Securities Division" of the State of Ohio, show that you were one of the leading Financial Buzzards and Worthless Stock Racketeers, who preyed upon innocent victims by selling them worthless stocks and securities in wild cat schemes that you knew were frauds and fakes?

Isn't it a fact that you couldn't keep your hands out of stocks and bonds while you were Assistant Secretary of Agriculture and that you, in company with others, organized an Insurance Company at Washington, D. C., of which you were the treasurer, and sold stock in this company, which was a fraud and went up in smoke like The Dollings Company?

Isn't it a fact that you made over a HALF MILLION DOLLARS ($500,000.00) by unfair methods and tactics in unloading and selling "Gold Bricks" for the defunct Dollings Company?

Isn't it a fact that you sold your name and high position for fat profits and big commissions to wring from the farmers, widows, and orphans unholy profits and fat commissions?

Isn't it a fact that you used some of these unlawful, unholy profits and fat commissions to defeat Tom White, Popular Dirt Farmer, in the Primary?

Isn't it a fact that you carried only TWO out of the FIVE counties in the primary and that Tom White, Popular Progressive Republican, carried THREE, Perry, Hocking, and Fairfield?

Isn't it a fact that you are today using the same slimy, unfair tactics, which you used as a "BRAIN TRUSTER" and High Pressure Salesman for The Dollings Company, to sell yourself to the voters of the 11th District, and buy a seat in Congress?

Isn't it a fact that you are not a farmer? Isn't it a fact that you have always FARMED the farmer? Isn't it a fact that you have been, and are now, a lobbyist for the Meat Packers of the country in Washington, D. C.?

Isn't it a fact that you today, help maintain five expensive and luxurious office rooms in the National Press Building at Washington, D. C., for lobbying purposes?

The voters of the 11th Congressional District would like to have you answer these questions before they vote on November 6th.

PAUL R. GINGHER

REPUBLICAN CANDIDATE
FOR STATE SENATOR

Note The Following Excerpts:

"It has taken only a few months for Senator Paul R. Gingher of Columbus to progress from a legislative neophyte to one of the most outstanding members of the General Assembly. Ask any close observer of the workings of the Legislature about Paul Gingher and you will hear how he has come to be regarded as the bed-rock of that sometimes turbulent body, the Ohio Senate." Karl B. Pauly, Feature Writer for The Ohio State Journal.

"Senator Paul R. Gingher, Franklin County, has attracted attention as being the smoothest member in presenting a case to the Senate. The job is certain to be done logically and tactfully." Herbert R. Mengert in The Cincinnati Enquirer.

"In addition to being a quiet, forceful and dignified man on his feet as a Senator, he is a firm, capable and courteous official behind the gavel." Gongwer Legislative Reports.

"Franklin County's two present members of the Ohio Senate—Robert E. Pfeiffer and Paul R. Gingher—have given good service." Editorial, The Columbus Citizen.

Clark Thrills Pro Grid Fans

By International News Service.

The old Portsmouth Spartans, who the Ohio city as Detroit Lions, Sunday, bigger, better, balanced and much better supported than when they performed along the Ohio river. Between 5,000 and 6,000 fans saw them completely bewildered the hapless Cincinnati Reds, 38-0, with the peerless Dutch Clark putting on a one-man show.

Clark scored two touchdowns, kicked dropkicks after each for the extra points, and booted a dropkick from the field for three more points. He scampered all over the greensward much to the delight of the Portsmouth fans and the discernment of the cellar-possessors, the Reds.

Clark's feature was an 82-yard sprint.

The Spartans scored in every period smashing 19 points over the line in the third session.

The starting Detroit team was exactly the same as that which performed for Portsmouth last year with the exception of John-son, mighty left tackle.

In other professional league games the following resulted:

Chicago Bears, tied with Detroit for the league lead, rubbed Green Bay, 27-14, with Beattie Feathers, formerly of Tennessee, as the star.

New York Giants whipped Philadelphia 17-0, with Kenny Strong doing the bulk of the offensive work.

Brooklyn Dodgers trounced Pittsburgh, 21-3, with Jack Grossman as the star.

Easton Redskins, led by Pug Reutter, Northwestern star, beat Chicago Cardinals, 9-0.

The league standing:

Club	Won	Lost	Tied
Chicago Bears	7	0	0
Detroit	7	0	0
Green Bay	4	3	0
Chicago Cardinals	2	4	0
Cincinnati	0	7	0

31 Unbeaten, Untied Teams in Country

NEW YORK, Oct. 29.—Thirty-one unbeaten and untied football teams remain throughout the country today.

Seventeen colleges fell from the charmed circle of unbeaten and untied eleven over the week-end.

New Mexico tops all other teams in the matter of scoring, having piled up a total of 174 points in five games.

Six schools — Dartmouth, De Pauw, Ohio Northern, Tufts, Ithaca, and Panzer — have not been scored upon as yet.

Fastest Flying Quail in North Michigan and southern Canada have the largest, strongest and fastest flying quail in America.

Sale of Joe Cronin, above, Washington shortstop and manager, to the Boston Red Sox, succeeding Stanley (Bucky) Harris, inset, as manager, may develop into an exchange of managers, after all. Harris, who won two pennants and a world's championship for Washington in recent years, is reported under consideration to take over his old post with Clark Griffith's club.

NORTHWESTERN SWAMPED BY OHIO STATE

Fullback Damon Wetzel lost no time getting under way when he stepped into action for Ohio State in the second quarter of the Buckeye-Northwestern gridiron struggle at Dyche Stadium. On his first assault he found an opening in the Wildcat forward wall and ripped through for 18 yards, as pictured here by the camera. He added 3 more and on the third drive bounced through right tackle for the touchdown. Ohio State had no trouble in swamping the Wildcats by a score of 28 to 6.

OHIO'S COACH TO MEET MAN HE REPLACED

Buckeyes Visit Cleveland; Reserve Has Good Team Led By Zeh and Ippolito.

COLUMBUS, Oct. 29.—Jubilant over their 28 to 6 victory over Northwestern last Saturday, Ohio State university's gridgers returned to the practice field today to begin drills for the last non-conference game of the season against Western Reserve next Saturday.

The Reserve game is expected to draw keen interest because of the fact it will pit the wiles and genius of Coach Francis Schmidt against his predecessor, Sam Williams, who now is coach at the Cleveland school.

Reserve boasts of a strong kicking and passing game and the main cog in its attack is built around Zeh, star right half-back. Zeh, who weighs 185 pounds, punts, passes and is an excellent broken field runner. At the opposite halfback post if Ippolito, who specializes on sweeping end runs, while Kremer, fullback, is a hard driving player on line rushing plays.

TO USE VARSITY

Although his team is now rated as "one of the best in the country," Coach Schmidt indicated today that he is not taking the Reserve game Saturday too lightly. It was expected, however, that Schmidt might let off some pressure because of the fact that the game is not a conference match and because Chicago, Michigan and Iowa are to be met at home on the succeeding Saturdays.

Schmidt is not planning on taking any unnecessary chances with his team and will keep his varsity eleven hard at work against Reserve until he feels the game has either been won or lost.

The Ohio squad returned from Northwestern today minus the services of Jack Smith, star fullback, whose recurrent knee injury was aggravated in Saturday's game. Trainer Tucker P. Smith said it was problematical whether Smith would play any more collegiate football for Ohio State. He is a senior and the knee injury may keep him out for the remainder of the season.

TO RUN TRAIN

It is probable that Ohio State will have a large cheering section at the Cleveland game next Saturday. Plans are being made to run a special train from Columbus to carry the university's 110-piece band and rooters who desire to follow the Scarlet squad.

'POLAR BEARS' IN COVETED POSITION

By International News Service. Ohio Northern University's football squad today remained the only unbeaten and untied gridiron crew in the state after Saturday's gridiron struggles which also saw five tie games written into the record books.

Results of other games, for all intent and purposes, can roughly be divided into two classes—those decided by slim margins and those in which heavy scores were piled up.

Among the latter were Ohio State's 28 to 6 victory over Northwestern's Wildcats; Ohio Wesleyan's 6 to 0 triumph over Wittenberg; Cincinnati's 45 to 0 win over Georgetown; Wooster's 25 to 0 score against Oberlin; Wilberforce's 20 to 0 win over Louisville, and never forgetting Ohio Northern's 23 to 0 victory over Otterbein.

Odd Maladies

Among the strange maladies that afflict mankind are arithmomania—the uncontrollable desire to count things; batophobia—the constant dread that something will fall on you; ergophobia—the morbid fear or hatred of work.

About This And That

BY THE SECOND GUESSER

3 OUT OF 17

The Second Guesser missed three out of 17 football selections on last Saturday's game and another resulted in a tie. Those missed were Colgate over Holy Cross, Southern Methodist over Fordham, and Nebraska over Iowa State, all of which, naturally, we guessed vice versa — The tie was Denison and Case.

PICKED HUEY'S TEAM

We were correct on the Ohio State-Northwestern, Army-Tennessee-Duke, Ohio U-Marshall, Notre Dame-Wisconsin, Illinois-Michigan, Dartmouth-Harvard, Chicago-Missouri, Purdue-Carnegie Tech, Alabama-Georgia, Ohio Wesleyan - Wittenberg, Cincinnati-Georgetown, and Louisiana State-Vanderbilt conflicts — The last named was probably the best selection of the day as far as this column was concerned because practically every other prognosticator in this section picked the Commodores—Huey Long's boys beat Dan McGugin's outfit decisively, 29-0.

MICHIGAN-MINNESOTA

One of the biggest crowds of the mid-west season is expected to witness the Michigan-Minnesota contest next Saturday in Ann Arbor. A Michigan victory would be the major upset of the 1934 season after the Gophers drubbed Iowa 48-12 last week — Michigan surprised, however, by almost tying Illinois, 7-6 — The Buckeyes go to Cleveland to meet Sam Williams' Western Reserve team, which at this writing is unbeaten — A week from today then their words will be untrue.

OPPOSITE FROM LIONS

Circleville Tigers, exactly opposite from the Detroit Lions team which unscored upon and unbeaten, take on Bexley, Central Buckeye league leaders, Friday in the local backyard — By being the opposite of the Lions, the Tigers have not scored and have not evaded defeat even once.

THE LATE Sam Davis, editor of the Carson Appeal was known as the Oracle of the Nevada sage-brush—and deserved the title. Once upon a time he was instructed by the San Francisco Examiner to meet Mme.

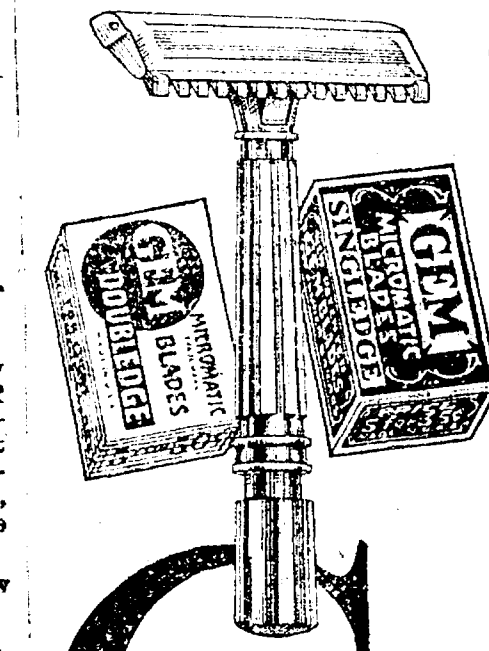

Sarah Bernhardt at Reno and bring her over the mountains of California on her first tour of the Western Slope.

Davis, aside from his journalistic abilities, was a most likable person. The great French actress became so fond of him, upon the occasion of their first meeting that thereafter she declined to be interviewed by any other newspaperman during her sojourn on the Coast. If she had anything to say for publication, he said it for her.

The day came when the train bearing her private car was about to start on the long journey back East. As the locomotive bell was ringing, she put her hands upon his shoulders, kissed him upon either cheek, and then squarely upon the mouth, remarking, as she did so:

"The right cheek for the Carson Appeal, the left for the Examiner, the lips, my friend, for yourself."

"Madam," said Davis, without the slightest sign of bashfulness, "I also represent the Associated Press, which serves 380 papers west of the Mississippi River."

Democratic Luncheon is Delightful Social Affair

The luncheon of the Women's Democratic club of Pickaway-co at the American Hotel Coffee shop, Saturday, was without a doubt the outstanding social function in political circles this year.

All reservations possible were taken. Mrs. Glenn I. Nickerson, S. Court-st., as chairman of the committee in charge of the luncheon, deserves much credit for the success of the affair.

Varied colored flowers decorated the room and centered the long tables for the luncheon at 1 o'clock. A number of women, prominent politically in the state, were present. The short talks by several of these women added much to the delightful meeting.

Mrs. Joseph B. Cronley, of Ashville, chairman of the Pickaway-co club, acted as toastmistress and introduced the speakers and all distinguished guests.

Mrs. Martin L. Davey, wife of the Democratic nominee for governor was charming in her greetings to the group and Mrs. Howard L. Bevis, wife of Judge Bevis, nominee for re-election to the Ohio supreme court, gave a

Another speaker, who had a most pleasing manner and was well received by her audience was Mrs. Floyd Elmer of the speakers' bureau in Washington, D. C.

Others introduced some giving talks, were Mrs. Francis Poulson, wife of the state Democratic chairman; Miss Josephine Justus, Lancaster, state central committee woman; Mrs. May Campbell, Lancaster, member of the Democratic state executive committee; Mrs. Dell D. Howell and Mrs. Clara Sheely, Columbus, of the state Democratic headquarters; Mrs. Charles West, of Granville, wife of the speaker.

All Democratic candidates for county offices were also presented by Mrs. Cronley.

Adding much to the enjoyment of the affair were the two groups of selections sung by the Monday club trio comprised of Mrs. Clark Will, Mrs. Melvin Yates and Mrs. James P. Moffitt, accompanied by Miss Abbie Clarke.

Their numbers included "Rain" by Curran; "Amervill's" an old French tune; "Sally in Our Alley" an old English tune; "The Holiday" by Curran; "My Lover Is a Fisherman" by Strickland; and "Down In Perry" by Cox.

Murder Will Out

WHEN insurance experts begin to worry about the homicidal hazard, the serious condition of society is made more apparent than by any statistics which can be compiled or quoted.
The homicide rate is so high in this country that every citizen is exposed to a measurable risk of murder or other forms of sudden death at the hands of his neighbor. The risk is fractional, of course, but it is apparently sufficient to be included in the calculations of those whose business is founded on mortality tables.

Among many startling discoveries of the statistician in the case, Dr. Frederick L. Hoffman, the marked disproportion between American cities and their equiv-als in other nations. Detroit's rate, for example, is more than five times that of Windsor, which is just across the river in Canada. The national homicide rate is the highest in the world.
Moreover, it is increasing and has apparently doubled within thirty years, in which this investigator has made his studies and annual reports.

The collector of these figures considers also their cause, as most all those who mark these mounting totals of murder. He blames the mutual extermination of gang warfare, the unassimilated alien and the national weakness for deadly weapons. These are familiar charges; others of his conclusions are more unexpected. He finds, for instance, that the reputations of such cities as New York and Chicago are not altogether deserved; the homicide rate of the former is considerably below the national average, and that of the Western city is only a little above it. He notes that capital punishment has not proved a determinant to homicide, according to the record. But these are details and the principal charge remains—that this nation is not only careless of human life as revealed by the accident record but also exceptionally cursed with those who take life with criminal intent.

It is a serious indictment founded on facts and figures, and the well-intentioned citizen must face it and seek both explanation and cure for the condition it represents.

Nasal Sinusitis in Young Children

Authorities Claim It Is Now One of the Common Disorders of Early Life, and It Often Leads to More Serious Complications

By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.
United States Senator from New York
Former Commissioner of Health,
New York City

Dr. Copeland

NASAL SINUSITIS is an unexpected affliction. Though it is more prevalent among adults, it is not uncommon in children. In fact, many baby specialists claim that sinusitis is now ranks among the common disorders of early life.

The effect of nasal sinusitis on the health of the child cannot be overstated. No doubt it plays an important part in acute infections of the respiratory tract, such as common colds, bronchitis, and pneumonia. It may well be said it prepares the way for many childhood infections, especially whooping cough and measles.

The child complains of chronic cough, frequent head colds and nose bleeds. He may have fits of sneezing and coughing which come on at night. These children are subject to croup, ear disturbances, headache, fever, blinking and inflammation of the eyes.

In addition to these disturbances,
a child may develop a systematic complication, such as anemia, malnutrition, asthma, digestive disturances, St. Vitus dance, acute rheumatic fever, arthritis or some other serious disturbance.

Rarely "Outgrow" the Condition

It is apparent that sinusitis in a child should never be accepted as a trivial matter. Do not expect the child to "outgrow" the condition.
Poor living conditions, inadequate food, lack of clothing, bad housing and hygienic facilities, are factors that must not be overlooked.

The disease should be treated so as to prevent its becoming chronic.
This is best accomplished by nasal packs which are given under the supervision of a physician. In addition to local treatment, it is advisable that all centers of infection be eradicated. Diseased tonsils and adenoids and infected teeth should be attended to as soon as possible.

Methods of Treatment

The diet is important in the treatment of sinusitis as well as in preventing other infections. Milk, cream, butter, eggs, vegetables and fruits should be included in the diet in liberal amounts. As a rule temperate eating of carbohydrates is advised.

On this account cereals should be given in moderation if there is a suspicion of sinusitis. Foods rich in vitamins and mineral substances should form the basis of the diet.

See that the child has plenty of fresh air and sunshine. During the winter months when there is not much sunshine, it is advisable to give cod liver oil. A regulated schedule of living should be adopted in order that the child may have adequate rest and regular hours of sleep.

In a severe case it may be necessary to resort to surgical treatment.
This consists of ventilation and drainage of the nasal sinuses. If polyps are present in the nose they should be removed without delay. In every case the doctor will make sure that the nasal passages and the cavities that open into them, the sinuses, are free and clear of disease.

"DEATH SONG"

by JOAN CLAYTON and MALCOLM LOGAN

CHAPTER XXX

"You wrote it?" Finn exclaimed.
"Why didn't you say so?"

The question was ridiculous, but I could understand why the sheriff asked it. It was a testing of the confidence he had placed in the doctor. To some extent we had all shared that faith, for even I, prepared to some extent by Mark's speculations about the note that disappeared, was startled to hear the doctor's answer.

John Calvert continued to smile.
There was a reckless gaiety in his reply. "That's obvious, isn't it? Because I didn't want you to know.
I expected Finn to look me up and into one of his sudden rages, but he had not yet recovered from his astonishment. He gulped and said,
"What did you say in it?"

"Just what Felipa told you. I said I wanted to talk to her and I would come to her cottage the next morning to see her."

Mark was watching the doctor intently, with a slight frown. It was impossible to obtain from his expression any clue to his thoughts.
Sue sat on the edge of her chair.
Her lips moved slightly and she looked as though she were about to cry. The sheriff tugged at his mustache and turned back to Felipa.

"Why did you run away?" he demanded. "Didn't you want to see Dr. Calvert?"

"No," she whispered.

"She wet her lips. 'I was scared.'
"Scared of him?"

The girl nodded. The doctor said,
"I'll tell you. The sheriff interrupted coldly, 'Let her answer. Why were you scared of him?' When finally she replied she kept her eyes averted from the doctor. Her voice was barely audible.

"I thought he killed Mr. Vail." Sue cried indignantly, "I never heard of anything so ridiculous!"

Dr. Calvert looked gravely at her.
"Thanks," he said.

"Where did you get that idea?"
the sheriff asked.

"They have a big fight that morning," she said. "I hear them. Dr.
Calvert, he says to Mr. Vail, 'Someday I'll kill you, Vail,' and Mr. Vail laughs. I was in the living room, and I hear them. Just before Dr.
Calvert says that I hear Mr. Vail say, 'You leave her out of this,
Calvert,' something like that."

"Is that true?" Finn asked Dr.
Calvert.

"It's true that we quarreled."
"You ran away because you were afraid Dr. Calvert would do something to you?" Mark asked the maid sharply.

The sheriff snapped at him, "I'll do the talking, Mr. Hillier. Now, what did you have an argument with Vail about?"

The doctor hesitated perceptibly and then said, "It was about money.
Vail was a patient of mine several years ago in New York. He made a lot of money in the bull market,
and he persuaded me to try my luck.
We were caught in the crash and lost almost all we'd put in." He smiled bitterly. "The sheriff seems to be born summer. We went in again in the summer of 1930, in a joint account. We believed the great minds who said we'd turned the corner. Well, we bought at the top of the summer flurry and got caught out. Vail put up a lot of margin and lost it all. I was repaying him in installments."

"So that's why he could afford Sherwood Forest," Mark said softly.

The doctor nodded. He went on to say, "I was repaying him when he died. On Thursday morning Vail demanded five hundred dollars immediately. I told him it was all I had in bank. He insisted and we quarreled over it. I lost my temper because I thought he was being unreasonable."

"Did he tell you why he wanted the money?" Mark asked eagerly.

John Calvert shook his head. "No.
I asked him, but he wouldn't say.
Finally I agreed to get it for him.
I gave it to him just before lunch."
"You were a good friend of his?"
Finn asked.

"No," the doctor said. "I was not his friend."

"But all the same you took practically every cent you could scrape up to give him?"

The doctor nodded. "I owed him
the money," he said.

I looked away from him. It was difficult to believe, and I wanted to believe him. The sheriff put his finger on another weak spot in the story immediately.

"What was this about a woman
he said to you?"

"We said nothing about any woman. She was mistaken."

The sheriff looked incredulous.
"You say you paid him the five hundred just before lunch. What became of it?"

"I have no idea."

"It wasn't in the room when we searched it?"

"No."

"Can you prove you paid it to him?"

"Yes. If you'll call my bank, you'll find out that I drew it out that morning, and I have a receipt he gave me."

"How much did you owe him altogether?"

"Ten thousand dollars."
The sheriff whistled. "How long have you been paying him back?"

"Two years," the doctor answered.

"Why did you pay him the five hundred?" Finn asked suddenly.

"Was it because you wanted to keep him quiet?"

The doctor nodded. "It would hurt my position here to have it become known," he said.

"You were anxious to keep the quarrel quiet too, weren't you?"

"Yes. As I said, I knew Felipa heard it, and I knew she suspected me.
I telephoned her that afternoon and told her that evening I wrote her the note. I was certain I could convince her I was innocent if she'd only talk to me, and I didn't want anything to get out about the quarrel."

How were you going to explain to her about what Vail said about dragging this woman into it?" the sheriff asked.

"I was going—" The doctor broke off suddenly. "Vail didn't say anything about a woman," he said.

"And you were going to tell her that, even though you didn't know she imagined she heard something about a woman?" the sheriff said. "I'm sorry, doc, but you slipped that time. I guess I'll have to ask you to come along with me—that is, unless you can prove an airtight alibi."

The doctor made a gesture of surrender. "I can't," he said. "I was in the X-ray room, reading some plates, when Vail was killed. Well, what are you waiting for? Why don't you arrest me?"

"All right," the sheriff said.

"Wednesday's Child," RKO-Radio's interpretation of the Broadway stage sensation opens a two day engagement at the Clif-

Besides the excellent story, the picture is of great merit because it introduces to the public of Circleville a new face and a new name—one to be remembered—Frankie Thomas.

This youngster has risen to stardom, through the remarkable performances he rendered in the stage play, and apparently, we will be seeing more of him in the near future.

"Wednesday's Child" has just been released and the Cliftona has been more than fortunate to secure booking before the picture played Columbus.

AT THE GRAND

Shirley Temple certainly is entitled to take a bow for her performance in "Baby, Take a Bow," which opened yesterday at the Grand Theatre. The work of this five-year-old girl is really astonishing. She possesses the grace and intelligence of a grown person and a personality that will carry her far.

In "Stand Up and Cheer!" she was delightful in a little sketch with James Dunn. In "Baby, Take a Bow," she has an important part running the full length of the picture and she turns in a truly remarkable performance.
She hasn't a trace of self-consciousness. Every gesture, every line is delivered with unstudied grace. She will steal your heart as soon as she comes on the screen.

(1) The bankers are so touchy about charges that they are not cooperating with the Administration.

(2) Why the bankers raised such strenuous behind-the-scenes objections to the Treasury's recent Fourth Liberty refinancing operation, which slashed interest rates from 4-1/2 to 3-1/4 per cent.

A 1 per cent difference on $13,000,000,000 runs into big money, especially in these days when gilt-edged securities are few and far between.

Ditched

One of General Hugh Johnson's pet recovery ideas has been quietly but definitely ditched by the Administration.

The ex-NRA boss had a favorite theory that one of the major highways to business improvement was revival of the durable goods industry.

Inability to get heavy industry started Johnson considered to be one of his most important failures.

Of course the real reason investment capital is not building skyscrapers is because of the obvious fact that commercial centers already are overbuilt.

Likewise, with thousands of miles of railroad trackage being abandoned, there is no demand for

Fear of Death Makes Child Abductors Work Alone

Top, Edward Cudahy; below, Pat Crowe; ransom, $25,000.

Top, Marion Parker; below, William E. Hickman; ransom, $1,500.

Top, Peggy McMath; below, Kenneth Buck; ransom, $50,000.

Top, Baby Lindbergh; below, Bruno Hauptmann; ransom, $50,000.

Digging into dusty archives for records of past kidnappings brought to mind by the abduction and slaying of Baby Charles A. Lindbergh, criminologists have been struck by the fact that three of the greatest "snatchings" of the past have been committed by men who worked alone and without accomplices. This, criminologists assert, may be due to the fact that accomplices who might have no objections to participating in the kidnapping of an adult at the same time may decline to take part in abducting a child because its less rigorous health

may lead to death and consequent charges of murder. The outstanding abductions in the nation prior to the Lindbergh case were those involving Edward Cudahy, 15-year-old son of E. A. Cudahy, wealthy Nebraska meat packer, kidnapped in 1900 by Pat Crowe, notorious bandit, for $25,000 ransom; Marion Parker, Los Angeles school girl, kidnapped and slain in 1927 by William E. Hickman, for $1,500 ransom, and Peggy McMath, Massachusetts girl, kidnapped in 1933 by Kenneth Buck, for $50,000 ransom.

new steel rails. And with power plants and factories possessing all the turbines and machinery necessary for present needs, they are not buying additional equipment.

Other instances of this kind could be cited by the score.

There is no immediate prospect for an appreciable upturn in durable goods production, NRA observers say and that therefore the thing to do is to concentrate recovery efforts in directions more promising of results.

T. P. Bremerton, Wash.—Professor Raymond Moley is not an intellectual in the same sense as Rexford G. Tugwell. Tugwell has a wide and broad learning. Moley has not. Moley is essentially a research man, an assembler of facts and theories evolved and uncovered by others. As long as he served the President in that capacity, Moley was an efficient assistant. It was when he undertook to branch out and become a maker of policies that he ran into difficulty.

P. V. Crenshaw, Conn.—Personally, Senator Frederic C. Walcott is one of the most pleasant and courteous men in the Senate. But he wields little influence in the deliberations of the body, even among his Republican colleagues. He is what is known in Senate vernacular as a "back-row" member.

F. G. Kilgore, Tex.—Vice-President Garner has never worn formal attire in presiding over the Senate. He continues the policy he followed when Speaker of the House, of appearing in ordinary clothes. The President addresses him as "Jack", but Garner addresses F. D. R. as "Mr. President".

DAVEY PREDICTS ELECTION

COLUMBUS, Oct. 29.—Entering the home stretch in Ohio's gubernatorial contest which will be decided at the polls a week from tomorrow, Martin L. Davey, Democrat, today predicted his own election over Clarence J. Brown, Republican, by "at least a quarter of a million majority."

While they withheld definite predictions for the present, Brown leaders also exuded optimism and ventured the opinion that the Democratic candidates failed properly to interpret the campaign trend of the last week or so.

Davey has visited 75 of the 88 counties in the last three weeks and he hoped to carry his appeal for votes into most of the others before election day.

CERTAIN OF RESULT

"It is now proper for me, one week before election, to make the confident prediction that I will be elected by at least a quarter of a million majority," he said in discussing the reception he has received in the various counties.

"The evidence of this overwhelming result is the most positive I have ever seen. The favorable sentiment is rolling up like a great tidal wave. This prediction is made without reservation and irrespective of blind guesses made by so-called political observers who spend all of their time in Columbus. We have been out among the people of the state."

If his opponents expected to force from Davey a public statement of his position with respect to state aid for parochial and private schools, they seemed doomed to disappointment.

"The false and irrelevant issues that have been injected into this campaign by the opposition are quickly spotted," said the Democratic candidate.

Among the "irrelevant issues" he is understood to rank the parochial school aid matter. Democratic state headquarters adopted a similar stand soon after Brown, the Republican candidate, issued a declaration of his opposition to state aid for parochial schools.

DONAHEY IN LEAD

In the opinion of most observers here the outcome of the contest between ex-Gov. Vic Donahey and Sen. Simeon D. Fess for U. S. senator will not be nearly as close as the gubernatorial race. Donahey is in the lead.

ASHVILLE WOMAN CLAIMED AT 77

Funeral services will be held Tuesday at 2 p. m. at the home in Ashville for Mrs. Hattie Hedges Parks, 77, wife of William A. Parks, who died Saturday at 10:30 p. m. after a four years' illness. Interment will be in Reber Hill cemetery by E. F. Schlegel.

Mrs. Parks was a native of Walnut-twp being born Oct. 30, 1857, a daughter of Joshua and Sarah Hartman Hedges. The following, besides her husband survive: Two sons, Bernard of Ashville, and Thaddeus of Columbus; a daughter, Mrs. Bertha Steinert of Chicago; three brothers, E. W. of Columbus, John N. of Walnut-twp, and Claude of Longview, Wash., and a sister, Mrs. Gertrude Crumley of Garrettsville, O.

PASTORS PLEAD FOR EDUCATION

Pleas for the continuation of America's standard of public school education were made in practically every Circleville and Pickaway-co. church Sunday as "National Education" week was opened.

Programs are planned in each school of the city and county this week dealing with the national event.

A chapel program in which various phases of the field of education were touched upon was presented at the high school this morning.

hey, they felt, has an impressive lead over the incumbent, Fess, which can be offset by nothing short of a miracle.

They held the belief that Donahey's undeniable tremendous personal popularity, and not Fess' persistent outspoken criticism of the Roosevelt "New Deal" would achieve the defeat of Ohio's senior senator.

While Fess' campaign for reelection has been based entirely on his "New Deal" opposition, Donahey chose to sell himself and not the "New Deal" to the voters. He has refused to debate the national administration's policies with Fess.

As the campaign nears its conclusion, criticism has been heaped upon Donahey by Republican leaders for his refusal to publicly state his stand on vital "New Deal" measures such as crop restriction, inflation and related matters.

Will Rogers Picks A Story For This Spot

By WILL ROGERS

SOME of these jerry-built houses that you see going up in new developments are just kinda scenery, you know. It really don't look as if the proprietor meant to sell them to anybody. But once in a while it happens, and then the proprietors' trouble begin, because it ain't hardly possible to collect the last four hundred payments without knocking the house down when you call for the money.

But one proprietor has a model couple living in his very flimsiest house. When the last installment was collected, the developer went out to the house and talked to the old couple.

"How did you keep your house looking so nice and new, when all my other buyers kinda shook theirs to pieces? I wish you'd write a little piece about it, and I'll use it on my other buyers."

So the old man did. He wrote like this:

"We're quiet folks, and ain't very hard on a house. We spend the nights at our son's place in town. Most all our days we spend with our daughter in town. That saves a lot of wear on the house. And then, whenever I want to cough, I always go outside, quite a long ways off from the house. We ain't got any other bad habits, so there's no cause to muss up the house with sneezing or dancing or playing cards, like some folks do."

GLENWOOD SPRINGS, Colo., Oct. 29.—Search for Merton W. Goodrich, 27, widely sought for the slaying of 11-year-old Lillian Gallaher in Detroit, shifted to Salt Lake City today with the announcement by Undersheriff Roy Terrill of Glenwood Springs that a man arrested here last week had gone to that city.

The suspect was taken into custody here Tuesday for questioning in connection with possession of a leather coat he was wearing. He made a satisfactory explanation of how he had obtained it and was released Wednesday.

DRINKS COAL OIL

James Schall, Salter-creek-twp. old son of Mr. and Mrs. James Shaw, drank a cup of coal oil Sunday, but was none the worse for his experience today after being treated by a physician.

A number of persons from here, including Mr. and Mrs. Bryan Custer, Mr. and Mrs. George Burns, Ralph Ward and Christian Schwarz attended the American Legion meeting at Jackson, Sunday, and heard the drum corps.

WEST URGES

university professor he formerly was, Congressman West defended President Roosevelt's New Deal as "a program which puts human rights above property rights and still maintains the common safeguards of constitutional government—a government free from the domination of Wall Street, which brought our country to national disaster in 1929."

Pointing out that the 11th congressional district was the battleground this year for one of the most clearly-drawn fights the New Deal will face, West forcefully said:

"Your present congressman, Mel G. Underwood, beloved by all of his associates in Congress for the splendid service he renders to his constituents, and an ardent friend and supporter of the Administration's program, is opposed by a Republican who would return to the old order and destroy all that the New Deal has given to America."

LAUDS UNDERWOOD

Mr. West paid splendid personal tribute to Underwood and also lauded the man who defeated himself for the U. S. senatorial nomination at the August primary, A. Vic Donahey. "The congressman lashed a 'bitter' attack against Donahey's opponent, Senator Simeon Fess, of Yellow Springs, one of the most outspoken critics of the New Deal."

"Any man, like Dr. Fess, who stands in front of Ohio audiences appealing to wild imaginations by stretching a rubber dollar bill the length of his arm in an attempt to frighten the people of what he terms an impending wholesale inflation," is paying for it. To date it has cost about three billion dollars, which is the same amount of national debt left by the Hoover administration," Mr. West stated.

The speaker presented a brilliant defense of the New Deal. "Our opponents say it's costing too much and that generations to come will be paying for it. To date it has cost about three billion dollars, which is the same amount of national debt left by the Hoover administration," Mr. West stated. "The presented indisputable figures show that the recovery program was accomplishing favorable results, pointing out that the income of the farmer and worker had increased nearly 25 per cent since President Roosevelt assumed office."

In conclusion, the congressman appealed for "the greatest Democratic victory ever seen," so that

President Roosevelt and Ohio's new Democratic leaders may continue to build "a new America, founded on the principles of social justice and sound constitutional theory."

CANDIDATES SPEAK

Preceding Congressman West's address, short talks were given by Mrs. Davey, Mrs. Bevis, Miss Justus, Mrs. May Campbell, of Lancaster, member of the Democratic state executive committee, Mrs. Poulson, Mrs. Fletcher, Mrs. Howell, Miss Sheehy, Miss Helen Yates, president of the recently organized Young People's Democratic Club, and August W. Weber and W. L. Spangler, candidates for state senator from the 10th Ohio senatorial district.

Group singing of a number of campaign songs led by Karl J. Herrmann, with the piano accompaniment played by Mrs. Herrmann, was a part of the program. The Monday club trio accompanied by Miss Abbie Mills Clarke sang six selections.

David McDonald, of Canton, and John Donick, of Akron, were to be returned to the Orient home for the feeble-minded today after their arrest in Scioto-twp by members of the sheriff's office Monday morning.

Morris Dam One Third Finished

Morris dam, the Tennessee Valley Authority's $39,000,000 power and flood control dam on the Clinch River, near Knoxville, is now one-third finished. Of 7.19 per cent of the concrete has been poured. When finished, two and a half years from now, it will stand 253 feet high, eliminating all future floods on the Clinch River and reducing materially the flood stages on the Tennessee River itself. The two huge penstocks can be seen through which water will flow to the dam powerhouse when completed, furnishing the water power for the mighty turbines. Each penstock is more than twenty feet in diameter.

ATTENTION VOTERS AND TAX PAYERS

IS "GET RICH QUICK" DUNLAP A RESIDENT OF THE 11TH CONGRESSIONAL DISTRICT? DUNLAP FIRST DENIED—NOW ADMITS HIS CONNECTION WITH THE DEFUNCT DOLLINGS COMPANY—WILL DUNLAP KINDLY ANSWER THESE QUESTIONS FOR THE VOTERS AND TAX PAYERS?

Dunlap, isn't it a fact that your residence is 1306 Neil Avenue, Columbus, Ohio?

Isn't it a fact that you are a voter in Ward 15, Precinct R, City of Columbus, Franklin County, Ohio?

Isn't it a fact that you never voted in this district until after you announced as a candidate for Congress?

Isn't it a fact that you served many years as a State Senator, State Dairy and Food Commissioner of Ohio and eight years, at a salary of NINE THOUSAND DOLLARS ($9,000.00) per year, as Assistant Secretary of Agriculture in Washington, D. C.?

Isn't it a fact that your record was considered in Washington as a "BIG ZERO" and that you were known as the "VERMIFORM APPENDIX" or "USELESS APPENDAGE" of the Department of Agriculture?

Isn't it a fact that you and your son, Nelson Dunlap, have drawn from the Public Treasury in State and Nation, over ONE HUNDRED AND FIFTY THOUSAND DOLLARS ($150,000.00) in salary and traveling expenses?

Isn't it a fact that you were the most expensive Assistant Secretary of Agriculture the Government has ever had?

Isn't it a fact that you cost the Tax Payers and the Government as much as TWO THOUSAND, SIX HUNDRED AND EIGHTY-FOUR AND 17-100 DOLLARS (2,684.17) for traveling expenses alone, in one year?

Isn't it a fact that you cost the Tax Payers and the Government a total of THIRTEEN THOUSAND EIGHT HUNDRED AND NINETY-FIVE AND 19-100 DOLLARS ($13,895.19), which you spent in traveling expenses alone, chasing about the country?

Isn't it a fact that you accepted money from a private speaker's bureau for expenses while traveling on a Government salary and Government Expense Account?

Isn't it a fact that you used the fine FIFTEEN THOUSAND DOLLAR ($15,000.00) Government Boat, with a Government Employee to run it at Government expense, for pleasure jaunts on the Potomac River, while you were Assistant Secretary of Agriculture?

Isn't it a fact that you placed your son, Nelson Dunlap, in the Department of Agriculture while you were Assistant Secretary of Agriculture, under Hoover, in a nice fat job, chasing "CORN BORERS," at a large salary?

Isn't it a fact that your son, Nelson Dunlap, has drawn more than EIGHTEEN THOUSAND, FIVE HUNDRED AND SIXTY-ONE AND 95-100 DOLLARS ($18,561.95) from the Public Treasury in gross salary?

Isn't it a fact that your son, Nelson Dunlap, is still holding a fat job at a big salary, on the public pay roll, and has held this job since early in 1927?

Will you explain to the voters how much money has been drawn by R. C. Dunlap, I. H. Dunlap and Walter H. Dunlap, whose names appeared upon the public pay roll while you were Assistant Secretary of Agriculture; how they got their jobs, and how many more of your relatives, beside your son Nelson Dunlap, were Corn Borer and Japanese Beetle Chasers?

Isn't it a fact that Benham and Harrison, two high officials of the Dollings Company, associated with you, were recently released from the Ohio Penitentiary, while you ask the people to elect you to Congress as your reward for helping to "Fleece" them through the sale of Worthless Dollings Stock?

Isn't it a fact that the records in the "Securities Division" of the State of Ohio, show that you were one of the leading Financial Buzzards and Worthless Stock Racketeers, who preyed upon innocent victims by selling them worthless stocks and securities in wild cat schemes that you knew were frauds and fakes?

Isn't it a fact that you couldn't keep your hands out of stocks and bonds while you were Assistant Secretary of Agriculture and that you, in company with others, organized an Insurance Company at Washington, D. C., of which you were the treasurer, and sold stock in this company, which was a fraud and went up in smoke like The Dollings Company?

Isn't it a fact that you made over a HALF MILLION DOLLARS ($500,000.00) by unfair methods and tactics in unloading and selling "Gold Bricks" for the defunct Dollings Company?

Isn't it a fact that you sold your name and high position for fat profits and big commissions to wring from the farmers, widows, and orphans unholty profits and fat commissions?

Isn't it a fact that you used some of these unlawful, unholty profits and fat commissions to defeat Tom White, Popular Dirt Farmer, in the Primary?

Isn't it a fact that you carried only TWO out of the FIVE counties in the primary and that Tom White, Popular Progressive Republican, carried THREE, Perry, Hocking, and Fairfield?

Isn't it a fact that you are today using the same slimy, unfair tactics, which you used as a "BRAIN TRUSTER" and High Pressure Salesman for The Dollings Company, to sell yourself to the voters of the 11th District, and buy a seat in Congress?

Isn't it a fact that you are not a farmer? Isn't it a fact that you have always FARMED the farmer? Isn't it a fact that you have been, and are now, a lobbyist for the Meat Packers of the country in Washington, D. C.?

Isn't it a fact that you today, help maintain five expensive and luxurious office rooms in the National Press Building at Washington, D. C., for lobbying purposes?

The voters of the 11th Congressional District would like to have you answer these questions before they vote on November 6th.

Note The Following Excerpts:

"It has taken only a few months for Senator Paul R. Gingher of Columbus to progress from a legislative neophyte to one of the most outstanding members of the General Assembly. Ask any close observer of the workings of the Legislature about Paul Gingher and you will hear how he has come to be regarded as the bed-rock of that sometimes turbulent body, the Ohio Senate." Karl B. Pauly, Feature Writer for The Ohio State Journal.

"Senator Paul R. Gingher, Franklin County, has attracted attention as being the smoothest member in presenting a case to the Senate. The job is certain to be done logically and tactfully." Herbert R. Mengert in The Cincinnati Enquirer.

"In addition to being a quiet, forceful and dignified man on his feet as a Senator, he is a firm, capable and courteous official behind the gavel." Gongwer Legislative Reports.

"Franklin County's two present members of the Ohio Senate—Robert E. Pfeiffer and Paul R. Gingher—have given good service." Editorial, The Columbus Citizen.
